Blame Placed for Carranza's Death

Herrero and His Followers Charged With the Crime

[By United Press] MEXICO CITY, May 26.—The commission appointed by General Obregon to investigate President Carranza's death in a report issued today definitely blamed Rudolfo Herrero and his followers for his assassination and recommended a formal hearing to establish the motive as well as to determine the conduct of Carranza's cabinet members who accompanied him.

Old Comstock Property to Be Again Opened

[San Francisco Bulletin.] The famous Comstock mining property at Virginia City, Nev., is to be quarried and its face dug into with powerful steam shovels to a depth of 400 feet, and also tunneled from the side, in order to reach $9,000,000 of ore which mining engineers in the employ of Alexander Wise of this city, and a Palace hotel guest, have located there for Wise and Bulkeley Wells of New York and Denver and H. G. Humphrey of Reno.

This important decision is the result of secret business conferences which have been going on for a week past at the St. Francis and Palace hotels among these three men and several others.

Wells, who has been stopping at the Pacific Union club, is one of the big silver and gold mining operators of the United States. Humphrey, who has been a St. Francis hotel guest, has made a fortune in sheep, cattle and wool, and has now turned his attention to the Comstock for another fortune. The Wells-Humphrey select coterie as the story is being told in mining and banking circles, has decided it is more profitable to develop new ore bodies to a depth of 400 feet than to seek them far down by unwatering the lower levels of the Comstock.

To quarry, steam shovel had tunnel from the side the new ore body mentioned, it is estimated will cost $2,500,000. So if the experts report is realized as to the wealth to be found in the ore body, the cost of the big undertaking will be between 300 and 400 per cent on the investment.

No outsiders are to be let into the deal.

Wells, who is now taking out much gold and silver in the Nevada county mines in this state owned by his big merger corporation, the Gold Point Consolidated Mines, was asked at the Pacific Union club to speak about his new deal with Humphrey and Wise on the Comstock. While admitting he had been in conference with Humphrey and others for several days, Wells said he could not make a public statement about their business.

Story of the Great Northwest at Carson City Theater Tonight

A girl's heroism always is an appealing thing, and it is this that makes "The One-Way Trail," which will be screened at the Carson City theater this evening, featuring Edythe Sterling in her latest picture.

A member of the Northwest Mounted police is Wanda Walker's lover. Wanda Walker, of course, is played by Miss Sterling. He has pitted against him a desperate outlaw chief, known throughout the untrammelled country as "Thundering Ames." Ames succeeds in getting the officer of the law in many a tight place, but each time Miss Sterling, with the aid of her horsemanship, which is unsurpassed, comes dashing to his assistance.

The climax of "The One-Way Trail" is entirely unexpected and breath-arresting. In a convincing way, it shows how a girl almost single-handed is able to put to rout the bandit's crew, save her lover, and shape those events which bring to Ames his just retribution—death. "The One-Way Trail" is an example of the finest kind of good, clean, thrilling western picture.

Added Attractions
"The Lost Mail Sack," a Helen Holmes feature, and "Mutt and Jeff" animated cartoons.

Thursday evening—Clara Kimball Young in "Tribby."

Two shows, 7 and 9 o'clock.

Admission, 10 and 25 cents, including war tax.

REPORT WILL BE MADE

BEFORE END OF WEEK

The women's special committee which has been investigating for the past few days the management of the Orphans' home finished taking testimony shortly after the noon hour yesterday and after going to lunch the members repaired to the executive office at the Capitol, where they went over the evidence adduced.

A decision will be reached and a report issued probably before the end of the week.

The Reno ladies who were on the committee left for their homes on last evening's train.

PAROLE EXTENDED

The parole extended Hector McKinnon sometime ago by the board of parole was made indefinite at a meeting of the board yesterday.

Several conditions, however, were imposed on McKinnon, principal of which was that he keep out of Mineral county.

Portion Lever Act Unconstitutional

Indictments Found Under It Quashed In U. S. Courts

[By United Press] INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 26.—Declaring that sections 4 and 26 of the Lever law were unconstitutional, Federal Judge Anderson today sustained the motion to quash thirteen of the eighteen counts found under it in the cases against the miners and operators charged with conspiracy to limit the supply and raise the price of coal. Under the ruling the cases will not be dismissed but a majority of the eighteen counts will not be pressed. Section 9 is especially upheld and on this five of the counts were based and forbade the calling of strikes among mine workers and the closing down of mines.

Act Gets Another Knock

[By United Press] NEW YORK, May 26.—The United States court of appeals here today held the Lever act unconstitutional. The decision was in the case of Weed & Co. of Buffalo in which they had appealed from a decision of the lower court.

Uncle Sam Advises If You Want to Be Full of "Pep" Eat Spinach

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Do you wish to be full of pep, ginger and go? Do you want to gain youth, vim, vitality, to effervesce with vigor and simply exude strength?

Do you want to be a bit of human high explosive?

You'll say you do! The answer is eat spinach. Just plain garden spinach that you usually pass up while you reach for the baby French peas and the tender a-paragus.

The reason for this strangely vitalizing power of spinach lies in its high percentage of "vitamines," according to the public health service. Animals which are deprived of their normal supply of vitamins waste away and die. If the vitamins in their diet are reduced they may live, but they become nonproductive.

On the other hand, if guinea pigs, pigeons and other favorites of the experimenter, are fed spinach three times a day they perk right up like a flivver on a double ration of gas and the guinea pig families double, triple and quadruple so fast that a herd blossoms where there were but a pair.

Spinach may be green, unimpressive looking stuff, but as a birth rate booster and red blood builder it has every other known material of human sub-

Burn and Destroy Property, Charged

According to London Dispatches Sinn Feiners Active

[By United Press] LONDON, May 26.—According to dispatches received here the Sinn Feiners, following their threats to burn or raze every government building in Ireland, attacked and destroyed buildings in many districts. The courthouses at Waterville and Cloyne were completely destroyed and in Dublin the offices of the department of agriculture were burned. The number of men participating in the attacks was estimated at over 1,000.

Happiness Again Coming to Mexico

[By United Press] AGUA PRIETA, Sonora, May 26.—Mexico is singing, dancing and playing the guitar once more. At least, it is in Agua Prieta, Nacosari, Cananea and Hermosillo and probably at scores of other places.

For thus far, music and the dance have been more potent weapons in the revolution than powder and the machines of war.

Leaders of the revolution have set themselves to make the people happy, realizing that "in happiness there is strength."

When General Calles came to Agua Prieta he brought a band with him. When news of revolutionary successes came to him his first order was the band.

It would march down the dusty road from headquarters to the old plaza lying among the squat, none too well kept adobe huts, and the strains of La Paloma would float over Agua Prieta. In a twinkling all of Agua Prieta would be in the plaza.

On "Cinco de Mayo" or Mexican independence day, at least a dozen dances, all by authority of the revolution, were held in Agua Prieta.

The story at other Sonora towns is the same. All have their bands or soon will for they are forming them.

The word has gone out that before long the evening concerts in the plaza, once as much a part of Mexican daily life as the afternoon nap or the evening meal, may be resumed.

Then the sonoritas will dance, the youths will serenade and, they say, it will be old Mexico again.

Little Chance for Delegates at Chicago to Wet Up, Say Sleuths

[By United Press] CHICAGO, May 26.—The cider, grape juice, ginger ale and near beer beverages will flow during the G. O. P. national convention here, beginning June 8th, but the lid is on on hard liquor.

Government prohibition agents, aided by dry sleuths, were prepared today to enforce closely what is drunk at the coming convention.

Reports that bell boys have formed a trust and agreed not to sell whiskey for less than $40 a pint have come to prohibition agents and the prospect of several of them getting jobs as bell hops was considered entirely probable to prevent any smuggling of liquor into guests' rooms.

Soft drink "bars" are expected to do a big business. What space hasn't been grabbed by politicians for a headquarters has been taken over for convention week by soft drink sellers and confectioners.

There is a plentiful supply of whiskey and beer in Chicago, but this is mostly sealed up by the government and can only be sold on physicians' prescriptions. But local Republicans say they have some to spare for a few drinks and it is hoped that Mayor William Hale Thompson, national committeeman from Illinois, may loosen the lid a little to allow delegates to have a good time.

Cabarets are to run full tilt during convention week. The old tenderloin district, just south of the Coliseum, where the convention will be staged, is taking on new life and the notorious 22d street has opened several lively cabarets, with "drug stores" next door.

Here until the hours of five and six in the morning, men and girls can drink and shimmy without fearing interference.

Each state will have a reception headquarters for its delegation at one of the Michigan hotels which have been booked to full capacity for the entire week at the rate of from $20 a day up for each room.

Entire suites have been taken over by presidential candidates to entertain delegates and their wives. Convention week will be featured by scores of teas, dinners and dances. Regular shopping tours will be conducted for the benefit of the women visitors.

Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, has taken over the Florentine room at the Congress. Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood has the Gold room and Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois has the Elizabeth room.

Mayor Thompson intends to capitalize the situation in every way. He has secured the Pompeian room, at the entrance to the Congress hotel, and all visitors must pass his headquarters, which will be emphasized by signs and banners with Thompson's name on them.

Furthermore the mayor will fit his headquarters for the convenience of the delegates. Fleets of automobiles will be placed at their disposal and the home town newspapers will be on file. Messengers and secretaries will be on hand to do personal service for delegates.

sistence tied to the post with the exception of yeast, according to the government scientists.

Just start a little spinach bed in your back yard or window box and watch yourself develop into a human dynamo.
